DETAILED ACTION

Claims 1-6 and 8-25 are currently pending and under examination. This is the second action on the merits and it is in response to Applicant's Remarks and Amended Claims dated March 3, 2008 in which Applicant cancelled claim 7.

Claim Rejections 35 U.S.C. § 112

Examiner previously rejected claims 1 and 17 under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which Applicant regards as the invention.

(a) Specifically, Examiner rejected claim 1 because the claim language is unclear as to the number or range of atoms included in the "remainder of the group" of variable group B. Applicant's have provided extensive argument as to what the inventors knew and didn't know at the time the application was filed and a declaration from one of the inventors. The only thing that Applicant submitted that in any way answers Examiner's rejection is the twelve moieties provided by Applicant on page 15 of the Remarks. Examiner currently maintains this rejection, but would drop the rejection if Applicant replaced the indefinite and ambiguous present definition of Ar:

with the structure of these twelve moieties:

in claim 1 if there is

support in the application as filed.

(b) Examiner rejected claim 17 because “therapeutic method of irritable [bowel] syndrome” was unclear for a multiplicity of reasons. Based on Applicant’s claim amendment, however, Examiner withdraws this rejection.

Examiner previously rejected claims 16-22 under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the enablement requirement because the specification does not enable the instant compounds to treat irritable bowel syndrome, depression and the other diseases and conditions listed in claim 16 comprising administering a therapeutically-effective amount of a compound of formula (I) or enable one skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to use the invention.

Examiner now withdraws this rejection based on Applicant limiting these claims to the treatment of irritable bowel syndrome only, Applicant’s in vitro and in vivo assays in the specification, and the journal articles showing the correlation between this class of compounds and the treatment of irritable bowel syndrome.

Claim Rejections 35 U.S.C. § 103

Examiner previously rejected claims 1-2, 7, 9-11, 13 and 15 under 35 U.S.C. § 103(a) as being unpatentable over Matsuoka, et al., Canada Patent No. 2431406.

Applicant argues that the amendment of claim 1 removing hydrogen from the definition of X^1 removes the reference from being an obvious variant of the instant claims. Examiner disagrees and maintains the rejection because X^1 can still be lower alkyl and hydrogen and methyl are homologs of one another. It is well-established that the substitution of methyl for hydrogen on a known compound is not a patentable modification absent unexpected or unobvious results. In re Wood, 199 USPQ 137 (CCPA 1978) and In re Lohr, 137 USPQ 548, 549 (CCPA 1963). The motivation to make the claimed compounds derives from the expectation that structurally similar compounds would possess similar activity.

Examiner previously rejected claims 1, 6, 8-11, 13-15 and 23-25 under 35 U.S.C. § 103(a) as being unpatentable over Modica et al., High Potent and Selective Arylpiperazine Derivatives as Ligands for the 5-HT_{1A} Receptor, Bioorganic & Medicinal Chemistry Letters, 10(10), 1089-1092 (2000).

Applicant argues that the compounds in the reference cited by Examiner “have a pyrimidine ring at their terminal” and Applicant’s testing has indicated that such compounds are “weak in 5-HT₃ antagonistic activity, and can be said to be unsuitable for the treatment of IBS which is to be effectively treated by the cooperation of 5-HT_{1A} agonistic activity and 5-HT₃ antagonistic activity.

Examiner finds this use argument unpersuasive if the compounds of the reference are obvious variants of the compounds of the instant claims. Examiner notes that pyrimidine is not one of the twelve moieties provided by Applicant on page 15 of the Remarks. If Applicant amends the claims as suggested by Examiner, supra, then the reference would not read on the rejected claims.

Examiner previously rejected claims 1, 6-7, 9-11, 13-16 and 23-25 under 35 U.S.C. § 103(a) as being unpatentable over Guccione, et al., 3D-QSAR Using "Multiconformer" Alignment: The Use of HASL in the Analysis of 5-HT1A Thienopyrimidinone Ligands, Journal of Computer-Aided Molecular Design, 14(7), 647-657 (2000).

Applicant essentially makes the same arguments with regards to this reference as with Modica et al., High Potent and Selective Arylpiperazine Derivatives as Ligands for the 5-HT1A Receptor, Bioorganic & Medicinal Chemistry Letters, 10(10), 1089-1092 (2000).

As such, Examiner's response is the same with regards to this reference and maintains the rejection.

Claim Objections

Claims 3-5, 12, and 17-22 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected independent claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claims and any intervening claims.
